

MacArthur Takes Over New Job

General Douglas MacArthur, heroic defender of Bataan, has arrived in Australia to take over supreme command of the United Nations forces in that region. It was announced today. The government also announced the arrival in Australia of American troops in "considerable numbers". He is shown above with some of his field officers.

By RICE YAHNER.
WITH U. S. TROOPS IN NORTHERN IRELAND, March 17.—Though they include their share of Finertys, McGintys and O'Donnells—and some who claimed Irish ancestry for just these 24 hours—St. Patrick's day was just another work day for the majority of the United States troops on the Emerald Isle.

There was no interruption in training schedules and no more than the usual few passes were issued to each unit. For, as spring draws near, alertness is the up-beat.

There, in any case, does not permit uniformed soldiers of combatant nations to cross its borders, and the American troops are not allowed to have civilian clothes. But there were a number of invitations to officers and enlisted men to visit homes and attend dances in Ulster towns near their bases.

There was only one official gesture of U. S. army participation in the holiday celebration. A lieutenant colonel and a major from the staff of Major Gen. Russell P. Hartle, U. S. commander in northern Ireland, attended the ceremony of a famous Irish regiment, at which a shamrock was given to each man and decorations are awarded.

Storms Rip Over 600-Mile Strip In South, Mid-West States

73 KNOWN DEAD IS MISSISSIPPI TOLL

Sections of Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois Swept By Twisters

(By Associated Press)
Tornadoes ripped over a 600-mile long strip of six southern and midwestern states yesterday, leaving in their wake at least 145 dead, over 900 injured and millions of dollars in property damage.

Terrific winds cut across the northwestern section of Mississippi where at least 73 were known dead, and approximately 650 others injured. High winds also left a trail of death and destruction in western Kentucky, Tennessee, and Indiana, and killed at least 20 in Illinois. Storms were reported as far west as Missouri.

The toll of dead and estimated number of injured by states:

	Dead	Injured
Mississippi	73	650
Illinois	20	170
Kentucky	16	20
Tennessee	20	100
Indiana	2	50

Aid To Disaster Zone
Mississippi, hardest hit, rushed all available aid to the disaster zone, covering an area of 150 miles wide and about 100 miles deep. The section, mostly rural with only a few scattered cities, was without communication for several hours in many places. Torrential rains followed the high winds and washed out many roads.

Thirty-one were known dead and 206 injured in Leflore county in northwestern Mississippi, and at least 18 were killed and 45 injured in the vicinity of Water Valley, a Turn to MANY, Page 8

DRAFT BOARD GETS
CALL FOR MARCH 28

1-A List Short For Last Call: 33 More Given That Rating

The Salem draft board will draw from its registry a list of 1-A men to fill a new selective service call March 28.

Notice of the call was received this morning from state headquarters.

The local board was able to send only 12 men two weeks ago when an insufficient number of 1-A draftees was available. Thirty-three men were placed in the 1-A class March 6 after passing physical examinations.

Men involved in the latest call will be inducted into the army at Camp Perry. Those summoned in subsequent calls undoubtedly will be affected by the new induction plan where the men go directly into the army following physical examinations, but are given a short furlough to return home if they have business matters to settle.

What's New In U. S. A. Is Question From Group Practically Cut Off From All Home News

BY EDDIE GILMORE
MOSCOW, March 16.—(Delayed)—Shucks, folks, what's new in the U. S. A.? We're just now reading about the last world series.

It's a very strange feeling to be cut off from home news. Sitting in the United States these may seem little things, but suppose you didn't know?

Whether American sidewalks are filled with uniforms; what the folks are talking about at home; whether people still are working the five-day week; whether the Rose Bowl game was played; whether there will be any baseball this year; whether there is rationing at home; what ships the United States lost in the war.

Do jazz bands still play? How seriously are people taking the war? Does congress meet five days weekly or seven; do factories hum by night? What's happened to the dollar? Are there blackouts? Have there been any air raids in the United States?

Members of the American colony know virtually nothing about happenings in the U. S.

'Best News of War', Vinson's View of M'Arthur Transfer

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Members of congress today were quick to acclaim the assignment of Gen. MacArthur to the supreme far Pacific command in Australia and expressed the opinion that it would do more to inspire confidence than anything that has happened since the war began.

"The best news of the war," was the description supplied by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval committee, who added, "we have got to hold Australia and now we will hold it."

"MacArthur now will be able to do bigger things toward liberating the Philippines," said Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.). He expressed belief that the men left in command on Bataan peninsula "will do all right."

Direct command of the forces in the Philippines passes to Major General Jonathan M. Wainwright, now 58, has been in the Philippines since October, 1940, when he was assigned to command the Philippine division.

Born in Walla Walla, Wash., Wainwright was graduated from West Point in 1906 and he holds the distinguished service medal for staff duties with the AEF in France during the first World war.

BRITISH HAIL
NEW WAR CHIEF

Point To "Co-ordination Between Empire and United States"

LONDON, March 17.—British military circles today hailed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's appointment to supreme command in Australia as a demonstration of "the co-ordination existing between the empire and the United States."

MacArthur's prestige in Britain is probably higher than that of any other American soldier, with the possible exception of Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff.

Military circles said the British war office had held MacArthur in "high regard" since he himself was American chief of staff and that this regard had been increased by his successful defense of Bataan in the Philippines.

From the crowded little peninsula of Bataan, barely 20 miles wide, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been transferred to a continent, particularly as large as the United States, to fight on broad Australian plains the United Nations' "battle of Moscow" against Japan.

If he stops Japan in Australia, as he stopped them in Bataan and as the Russians stopped Hitler before Moscow, then the United Nations will be in a position to start the counter-offensive they have been talking about.

In this task he has plenty of room in which to maneuver, and a temperate climate to which American troops are accustomed. Autumn is approaching in Australia.

LONDON, March 17.—British tanks and infantry, with the aid of "sufficient" air support, were reported today to be crashing through the Burmese jungles to guard the battered but unbeaten main imperial army from Japanese columns feeling their way north along the roads from Rangoon to Toungoo and to Prome.

Military commentators predicted the British imperials and their Chinese allies would use these last two towns as the bases for their eventual drives on the Japanese, who have reached Nyaunglein, 70 miles from Prome.

YANK FORCES
HAVE LANDED
'DOWN UNDER'

Stimson's Announcement Indicates Considerable War Strength

MOVEMENT OF BIG PROPORTIONS SEEN

A. E. F. to Antipodes Composed of Both Ground and Air Troops

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Yanks have landed down under—in force—ready to fight side by side with the Aussies in the battle for Australia.

The A. E. F. to the Antipodes is composed of ground troops and air corps units "in considerable numbers," War Secretary Stimson disclosed late last night in a laconic announcement.

The use of the expression "in considerable numbers" had a heartening sound for the capital, for it was recalled that the official announcement of the arrival of American troops in northern Ireland carefully avoided any such mention of strength.

Major Movement Seen
Behind the few words of Stimson's plain statement lay the stirring stories that were yet to be told of what obviously was a troop movement of major proportions.

The belief here was that the mighty convoys which transported the thousands of troops and the tons of supplies and equipment probably traversed some 12,000 miles in a sweeping arc through the trackless south Pacific before reaching the unnamed Australian port of debarkation.

Under normal circumstances, a voyage from the Pacific coast to the Antipodes takes about 40 days, and a convoy's pace is necessarily slower. It seemed likely, therefore, that the units now in Australia embarked from American ports some time in January. Indeed, some may have been at sea within less than a month after Pearl Harbor.

There have been reports of American units participating in previous operations in the southwest Pacific theatre, but these were almost exclusively air force commands with supporting ground personnel. Stimson's was the first official disclosure that the United States had succeeded.

CHUNGKING, China, March 17.—Chinese army spokesmen, restating the Chinese contention that an early Japanese attack on Russia is probable, said today that two Japanese divisions had been transferred recently from Korea to Manchukuo while Japanese troops in the southern, or Japanese, half of Sakhalin island had been moved northward toward the Russian border.

He told a press conference that Chinese military intelligence reports also had told of a meeting of district chiefs of staff of armed forces in Manchukuo.

The spokesman expressed confidence, however, that the Russians were fully alert to the dangers of a sudden Japanese assault.

Assignment To
New Job Asked
By Australians

Arrives In Anzac Land Today, Accompanied by Wife, Son, and Staff, As Unconfirmed Dispatches Report New Jap Armada Moving

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, hero of the three-months-old battle of the Philippines, has arrived in Australia to take over the supreme United Nations command in the far Pacific, the war department announced today.

The war department said Gen. MacArthur's assignment to the critical Australian theater, now imminently threatened with invasion by Japan, was requested by the Australian government.

His command will also include the Philippines, where American and Filipino troops are still valiantly defending the tiny Bataan peninsula against numerically superior Japanese forces.

Gen. MacArthur arrived by plane today, accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and his chief of staff, Brig.-Gen. Harold H. George.

At the same time, unconfirmed British dispatches reported that a Japanese invasion armada of cruisers, airplane carriers and scores of destroyers was moving southward on Australia.

London newspapers printed dispatches saying the Japanese were expected to launch their attack first against the eastern Australian seaboard—the region of Australia's chief cities—instead of attempting to land on the north coast and fight their way across hundreds of miles of arid desert.

Gen. MacArthur's transfer from the shot-torn foxholes of Bataan to the vast plains of Australia came as a heart-warming move to the United Nations.

Days ago, as Singapore fell and Japan's marauding armies overran the Dutch East Indies, Australian newspapers urged that the American general be called to lead Australia's defense.

Assignment Requested By Australians
The assignment was requested by the Australian government, the department said, and President Roosevelt directed MacArthur on Feb. 22 to transfer his headquarters from the Philippines to Australia as soon as the necessary arrangements could be made.

MacArthur requested a delay until he could perfect arrangements within his Philippine command, and this delay was approved by the President.

MacArthur was accompanied on the plane trip to Australia by Mrs. MacArthur and their son; by his chief of staff, Major General Richard K. Sutherland; Brigadier General Harold H. George of the air forces and several other staff officers.

His command in the southwest Pacific region will include the Philippine islands, the war department said.

Among the men now under MacArthur in Australia are the "considerable numbers" making up the expeditionary force of American ground troops and air corps units announced yesterday by Secretary of War Stimson.

MacArthur, since first reports, on December 10, of Japanese attempts to invade the island of Luzon in the Philippines, has commanded the amazing defense of those islands, fighting the numerically superior Japanese invaders to a standstill on the peninsula of Bataan.

In accordance with plans carefully drawn prior to outbreak of the war, MacArthur withdrew his principal forces on Luzon toward Bataan, where for weeks he has stalled all attempts of the Japanese to destroy his forces or push them into the sea.

MacArthur's predecessor as supreme commander in the southwest Pacific was British General Sir Archibald Wavell, whose reassignment to command in India was announced on March 2.

At that time, no mention was made officially of the possibility that MacArthur could succeed him. Although Australian sources had suggested MacArthur from time to time.

Wavell's reassignment to India was explained as a result of the loss of Malaya and the entry of the Japanese into Sumatra, separating Burma from the Netherlands East Indies. The transfer of all land, sea and air forces in the Netherlands Indies to the command of the Dutch was announced, but no reference was made to a supreme United Nations command in the southwest Pacific area.

It now develops that MacArthur already had been ordered to Australia, but today's announcement made no reference to India or Burma, and there was no immediate indication whether MacArthur's command extended to them.

MacArthur has commanded the Philippine army since 1935, when he completed a tour of duty as chief of staff of the war department.

Assigned to Manila as military adviser to the Philippine commonwealth government, he undertook the organization and training of the Philippine army, which with United States forces in the Philippines has defended those islands against the invading Japanese in a campaign that has won the admiration of the world.

Directors Set April 27, 28 and 29 As Tentative Campaign Period

Tentatively, Salem's annual Community Chest campaign will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 27, 28 and 29, a week or two earlier than usual. It was announced today by officials of the chest organization.

However, those dates are only tentative, it was announced following a meeting of the board of directors last night at the Memorial building, at which preliminary arrangements for the annual campaign were discussed.

The directors heard the requests of various welfare organizations who seek to participate in the funds, but took no definite action on setting up allotments.

Another meeting of the directors will be held next Monday evening at which it is likely definite action will be taken on dates, fund distribution and other matters.

171 HIGH SENIORS
TAKE "T. B." TESTS

One hundred and seventy-one Senior High School Seniors were given tuberculosis tests Monday under the supervision of the city health department. Only 22 students failed to submit to the examination.

The patches will be removed Wednesday and the reactions, if any, observed Friday.

One hundred and twenty-five first grade pupils in five schools were given the harmless tests last week, five active cases of tuberculosis being reported by the health commissioner, Dr. R. T. Holzbach.

He explained that the tests help the department discover active "T. B." cases which have been unsuspected.

The health department official urged that parents have their children vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria and whooping cough, unless they have already received the treatment.

He pointed out that the death rate from diphtheria and smallpox has been reduced considerably due to the efforts of health authorities throughout the nation in past years but that the death rate from whooping cough is high. He explained that communicable diseases often goes into pneumonia.

NURSE-AID COURSE
TO BE GIVEN HERE

Registrations for a nurse-aid training course, which is expected to be launched next week, will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. tomorrow and Thursday in the Memorial building parlors. It was announced today by the medical advisory council of the Civilian Defense committee.

Miss Hazel Linn, a registered nurse who has had varied experience in social service work and teaching, has been authorized by the American Red Cross to serve as the instructor.

Women between the ages of 13 and 50 who have a High school education, or equivalent, are eligible to enroll. Applicants also must be able to pass a physical examination and give proof of U. S. citizenship. The nurse aid program is entirely war-time work and no compensation is forthcoming; it is pointed out. Upon completion of the training course, registrants will be certified by the Red Cross as qualified nurse aides. They must be able to give 150 hours of nursing during a year.

Still Winter, But Mercury Goes Up

The calendar still said winter, but that didn't mean a thing here today or yesterday.

Overcoats and long underwear were hurriedly shed by some citizens when the weatherman provided a taste of spring and even summed, in some sections of Ohio.

The temperature climbed to 65 degrees here this morning, but dropped several degrees shortly after noon when the direction of the wind changed. The reading was 57 degrees at the city sewage treatment plant at noon today, compared with 52 degrees yesterday noon. It was 54 at midnight.

A half inch of rain was measured. The mercury soared to 80 degrees in Cincinnati, the hottest March 16 on record in that city.

The thermometer touched 76 in Springfield, 72 in Columbus and 67 in Cleveland and Toledo.

Later in the day the temperatures dropped as thunderstorms and high winds struck parts of the state.

Lightning struck a tree near the Excelsior Fire Clay Co. at Lisbon, stunning four men, including the plant superintendent, J. P. Dixon, who were unloading slag from a truck nearby. A window in the building was shattered.

A hailstorm at Summerfield, Noble county, dented automobiles, punctured roofs and broke windows. At Columbus utility wires and signs were blown down by winds of high velocity. Winds also caused damage at Cincinnati, and a house was set afire by lightning. Continued thunderstorms and colder weather were forecast for today.

GERMANS HINT
ARCTIC DRIVE

Close Norwegian Ports; Warships Are Massing At Trondheim

LONDON quarters today saw the threat of a possible German attack against Iceland and upon American-British supply lines to Russia as a result of Nazi orders closing all Norwegian ports from North Cape to Alesund, and at the same time it was disclosed that Germany's mightiest battleship, the new 35,000-ton Tirpitz, may be loose on the high seas.

The Norwegian coast would make a likely jumping-off point for any Nazi assault on Iceland, now guarded by United States and British forces.

A responsible London source, declaring the German order was "ominous," cited these other evidences that a major new campaign in the north may be imminent:

1. Authoritative reports that the Germans have sent strong reinforcements to their Norwegian garrisons.

2. Today's German high command announcement of intensified fighting in Lapland, whose far north frontier is only 50 miles from the vital Russian Arctic supply base at Murmansk.

3. Massing of Nazi warships at Trondheim.

The source declared Germany was now believed to have between 150,000 and 200,000 troops in Norway, compared with the 100,000 reported there last summer.

A British spokesman said that the powerful Tirpitz, sister ship of the battleship Bismarck, "appears to have avoided" an attack by British aerial torpedoes off the Norwegian port of Narvik eight days ago and that information was lacking on the present whereabouts of the huge sea raider.

MORE BOOKS NEEDED
FOR MILITARY MEN

What about those books for military camps and libraries? Have you looked them up yet? Books are still being collected in the drive to provide recreational and educational reading matter for men in the armed forces. The committee reports that 800 books have been shipped to camps and stations thus far, but many more are needed.

Some of those turned in were, committee members say, in need of repair and out-of-date and could not be used. Technical books of late publication, fiction, short story collections, mystery, novels—books of all types are acceptable if they are in good condition.

Part of a shipment is ready to be sent but more are needed to make up the quota, so those books for which you no longer have any need should be rounded up and taken to the library immediately.

RUSSIA'S EXPERIMENT

Communiques describing a large-scale pre-spring Russian drive against Germany's invading armies in the Ukraine will be watched with extraordinary interest. Russia's experiment will test the theory that the best way to offset Axis strategy of attack is to throw the attackers off balance with counter-attacks.

This was the theory that Russian strategists used last summer and last fall when the Germans were advancing; Nazi salients were under ceaseless counter-attack. Yet, the German advance continued. When winter descended, the Russians enlarged the scope of their strategy and undertook a winter campaign of direct attack that may prove to have been the turning point of the whole war.

Russian generals knew that Germany would return to the strategy of attack in the spring. But instead of waiting for the blow to fall and trying to guess where, the Russians have increased the strength of their own attack. Perhaps they will be able to break up the Nazi spring offensive before it can get organized.

Certainly, if Russia's allies now were in position to open another front in the west, the steady decline of German strength on land would be assured. Inevitably, the question of ability to do this will be examined more sharply in the weeks immediately ahead. It seems constantly plainer in the conduct of this war that attack is not wholly a matter of equipment. Another glaring weakness in the strategy of the anti-Axis bloc has been a shortage of military imagination. Who would have dreamed one year ago that Russia would be the means of stopping Hitler's reichswehr and turning it back in its tracks?

SUMMER IN THE COUNTRY

Elaborate schemes to tempt city youths to spend a summer in the country leave old-timers baffled. Why should it be necessary to have committee meetings, official wage scales and tieups with United States employment service to persuade young men to spend a summer in the country?

The sunsets are wonderful, particularly when followed immediately by a good night's sleep. On Saturday night, of course, a healthy specimen can stay up till 10 and possibly take the farmer's daughter to a movie in the farmer's car. Aside to city boys: Farmers really do have daughters.

And there are lazy days in fragrant hayfields, one of the traditional delights of farming. A thousand exciting adventures lie in wait for the newcomer to the country—woodchucks, snakes, engineering problems, the endless challenge to ingenuity presented by the propensity of farm machinery for breaking down at the wrong line. Farming is possibly the best mental and physical conditioner for the growing boy ever devised. It's a self-contained educational system so to speak.

Of course, there is work, but work becomes relatively unimportant once the importance of all the other things about farm life is established. It only becomes drudgery to those who don't understand it or who face the prospect of having to do it the rest of their lives. It will be a cruel shock to the romanticists of the soil if the United States doesn't have to fight off the city boys who will want to spend an idyllic summer farming for the sake of their country.

BICYCLES FOR TWO

There was bound to be a rub in the easy assumption that if transportation really got tough, bicycles would do the trick. Sooner or later, there would be a shortage of bicycles.

The war production board order curtailing bicycle output 58 percent by the middle of May and holding down production meanwhile simply means that bicycles are going to be an even more limited solution to the transportation problem than they were expected to be. They, too, require material urgently needed for war production.

The habit of expecting something to turn up is hard to break. There still are millions of motorists waiting for a set of new tires to turn up when the time comes. Many of them were sure that they could expect a bicycle at least. Under the new circumstances, some of them would settle cheerfully for a super-cargo position on the handlebars—if they could be sure of getting it.

SHUCKS FOR SHIPS

The maritime commission's frantic drive for more ships—2,000 new vessels by the end of next year—is a reminder that in the post-war years this country let its merchant marine go to pot. In its best post-war year, 1937, the merchant marine increased by 123 ships. Total tonnage was allowed to dwindle year by year, while the tonnage of Germany, Japan and Italy steadily increased. Even British tonnage at the outbreak of war was slipping.

This was because it wasn't profitable to build ships, according to the customary explanation. The subsidies which other governments paid to keep their merchant marines up to snuff were too much for the critics of navy policy to stomach. The subsidies were paid grudgingly and always were good for one more session of mud-slinging.

At the same time in the aviation industry, the subsidy battle was being turned in a more favorable direction. Whatever prospect of success there is for American supremacy in aviation can be traced to development of a healthy commercial structure through airmail subsidies—a practice suspended temporarily for what now appears to have purely political reasons in 1934, then resumed.

The United States has learned about security the hard way. It is paying a ghastly price for its shucks for ships policy of the post-war years. Were it not for the tonnage left over from World War I, the war could be lost right now for lack of ships.

For Wednesday, March 18

THE LUNAR and mutual aspects for this day point to a surprising and dramatic turn of events, which come with sudden precipitancy and have far-reaching influence on the current affairs and future fortunes. Out-of-the-ordinary developments may be looked for both in business and private affiliations, possibly uprooting and calling for unforeseen change and movement or travel.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of sudden, surprising and exciting adventure, probably into the realm of romance and thrilling experiences of an unlooked for or unplanned nature. It is probable that courtship, elopements, or quickly arranged marriages are on the tapis, but business as well should have its romantic or dramatic moments.

A child born on this day may have much originality and creative talents of a high order, which may insure a career of distinction or public acclaim.

HITLER ADMITS IT
By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst

Herr Hitler's memorial day speech in Berlin Sunday has received less attention in this country than any other he has delivered since the war began, and yet it strikes me as being one of his most important utterances, for it is a tacit admission that things are going badly for the fatherland.

The unconquerable Hitler finally has had to come before his people and admit the terrific beating the Nazi armies have been taking at the hands of the bolsheviks. It no longer is safe or wise to evade the truth.

The fuhrer blames his troubles on what he describes as the worst Russian winter in 140 years. That's a long time to go back in weather records, and gives rise to the suspicion that it is calculated to ante-date Napoleon's disastrous retreat from Moscow in 1812 and thus minimize the present misfortunes.

The Nazi chief's speech is fair indication that he is worried. Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles goes even further and declares that "there is implicit in every word and every phrase Hitler's own recognition of his impending downfall."

Quite likely the fuhrer's boasted "intuition" has indeed shown him some very unwelcome writing on the wall. In any event he has called in his people for greater efforts and has warned that "the bolshevist colossus is a cruel menace."

However, while this is encouragement for Hitler's enemies, we shall make a vast mistake to place any dependence on the weakness which his war scheme has developed. He is still the greatest threat which the allies face. The Nazi dictator isn't beaten yet.

The moral of Hitler's confession is that now is the time, when he is showing signs of weakness, to redouble our efforts to finish him off before he has a chance to recover.

FINDING OUT HOW VITAMINS WORK

Research Is Looking Into This Matter

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
SOMETHING like a really sensible explanation of the way the vitamins work is appearing. For a good many years since their discovery the only thing known about them was that, for instance, if Vitamin A was left out of the diet, it caused eye trouble such as night blindness.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

and infection of the eye. If Vitamin B was left out of the diet it caused neuritis. If Vitamin C was left out of the diet, it caused scurvy and an absence of Vitamin D resulted in rickets.

Research workers continued to find vitamins such as Vitamins E, K and P, substances which they named pyroxidine, biotin, pantothenic acid and if one or the other was removed from the diet of an experimental animal, certain effects in the way of ill health appeared in the animal.

Nobody knew just why these effects occurred. They didn't occur because the vitamins supplied an actual chemical to the tissues affected. For instance, Vitamin B, if removed from the diet, causes neuritis, but the chemical structure of Vitamin B is nothing like the chemical structure of a nerve. Therefore it is not because the nerve lacks an essential chemical to produce growth that Vitamin B deficiency causes nerve trouble.

Act As Catalysts
We are beginning to find out that

LENTEN REDUCING DIET
By Dr. Clendening
(For Wednesday—960 Calories)
Efficient, Balanced, Satisfying
BREAKFAST

½ grapefruit (50 calories—roughage); 1 soft-boiled egg (100 calories); 1 slice toast (75 calories); 1 cup coffee—no cream or sugar.

LUNCH
1 large glass milk (160 calories); 1 large banana—no cream or sugar (100 calories, minerals and vitamins).

DINNER
1 cup black bean soup—served with chopped onion and chopped white and yolk of egg (150 calories—satisfies the appetite); 1 medium size boiled sweetbread (150 calories); 2 tablespoons carrots (Vitamins A, B, C, G—phosphorus—calcium—25 calories); 1 canned peach—served hot (50 calories); 1 small cup coffee—no cream or sugar.

the vitamins probably act as catalysts. A catalyst effects a chemical reaction in a definite way, but it doesn't enter into the reaction. For instance, potassium placed in a test tube with oxygen and hydrogen will accelerate the combination of the oxygen and hydrogen but the potassium will not be changed itself.

Vitamin B acts in this way. It apparently speeds up all the exchanges of food in the body, allows the body to burn it more quickly, in fact speeds up all the life processes.

It has been found that climate and temperature affect the use of Vitamin B. In cool climates Vitamin B remains in the body longer and keeps heat generation going. In tropical climates it is eliminated rapidly and the food remains inert in the body and it turns into fat rather than energy so that in hot climates the natives are more likely to be sleepy and more likely to be obese.

Incidentally, I am glad to see that a good word is being said for my old friend, meat. For years every hygienist condemned meat. Nowadays they say that meat is the best source we have for Vitamin B and we all need some at least once or twice a week.

Vitamin B is not a single substance. There are about eleven subdivisions of Vitamin B, all more or less related, but all performing more or less different functions. Incidentally, it is possible to get too much Vitamin B; at least it is possible to get too much thiamin chloride, which is Vitamin B, so it won't do simply to stuff yourself on Vitamin B.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Even when he came around to the front of the ambulance and stood facing her, Wendy couldn't believe it was really David. Yet this young man with his shoulder bandaged was certainly not his ghost.

Which of the two was the more flustered?

"Oh!—Hello David—I mean Mr. Hutchinson—it is you, isn't it?"

He looked down at himself in mock seriousness. "I have an idea it is and please don't 'Mister' me. David is the right name." He looked around him and spotted a golf links in the meadows below the hospital. "This looks familiar," he said.

"It is—I mean—David—it's where we met yesterday," her heart beat so hard that she felt he must hear it.

"So it is. I've made a quick and trip, haven't I?"

"Yes," Wendy had quite forgotten her face and bedraggled hair. David had not believed it possible to get excited after all that she had been through, and thought that she had hardened, even to love.

"I live near here—I am so—I mean, my mother directs the hospital, you know."

"Fancy that!" He smiled broadly. "And does she send you out to bring in trade?" They laughed together and were silent for a moment, slightly embarrassed, and looking straight into each others eyes.

She was dirty and smiling and, to him, very beautiful.

At this moment Lady Harrowsdale came out and saw her daughter. "Wendy darling. Back so soon?"

"Yes, mother." She got down from the seat and went forward to meet her parent. By now the wrinkle had come back into her eyes and her composure had returned. "I want you to know a friend of mine, mother. Lieutenant David Hutchinson. We met only yesterday on the links, and twenty-four hours later I bring him back. I'm sure he thinks I had the Germans shoot him down on purpose so that I could kidnap him. American men are so conceited, they say."

Lady Harrowsdale's greeting to David was cordial; then she turned and examined her daughter's appearance. "My dear," she said, "I do think you would have to kidnap a man to get him near you. Let us go home and I shall have my maid scrub you."

As she took her leave of the patient, Wendy whispered in his ear that she would come to say goodbye after luncheon.

David was given a small, white room to himself, and from his bed he could see out over the golf links. In fact he could see the fairway down which he had taxied the day before, and where he had met Wendy. It annoyed him that the doctor had told him to lie down when he felt so well, but he had been advised that if he stayed on his back for a few days he would get well more quickly. Therefore he obeyed, and was in bed, just finishing some light food, when Wendy returned.

She looked quite different now, clean and fresh and smiling. "If you've finished I'll put the tray outside." She had sworn to herself not to stay over half an hour, and during that short time did not wish nurses coming in looking for trays. She put it on a table in the hall, closed the door and sat down on the side of his bed, taking his left hand between both of hers.

"I'm so glad you're fighting for England," she said simply, her face very serious.

The sudden of all this rather surprised David, but he knew that in war, things were apt to happen with amazing speed. He felt that within his own chest, a minor blitzkrieg was taking place and, before the girl had been there ten minutes, he was dead in love with her. When she was getting up to leave at the end of her half hour he told her so. Her answer was to lean over and kiss him gently—on the lips.

"See you soon," she said, and threw him another kiss as she went out of the door.

During the days that followed, Hutch lounged about in steamer chairs, or stayed in bed, chafing at the bit as it were. He tried to read, but found that books had no meaning for him. There were only two things in his mind—Wendy and the Hornets. These excluded everything else. His desire to see the girl was almost as strong as his urge to return to the air. Again he thought of the possibilities of marriage. There had been something in her farewell kiss that told him his love was shared, although she had actually not even answered him when he had told her that he cared for her.

After all, for a pretty girl to kiss a wounded aviator was not extraordinary, in fact really meant nothing. But this had not been an ordinary kiss. Or had it? Next time he saw her he would ask the question directly and she would have to answer. This uncertainty was getting him down mentally. Physically he progressed so rapidly that the doctor promised to let him return to the squadron even before the fortnight was up. His health was excellent, good blood was causing the wound to heal quickly.

He made friends with several of the nurses, with the doctor, and particularly with Lady Harrowsdale who could not have been kinder if he had been her own son. They talked together about Philip, and whenever he could, without being too obvious, David shifted the conversation around to Wendy. He did not want Lady Harrowsdale to know his secret, not yet anyway.

But the wise, gray haired woman was not only a member of England's nobility, she was also a mother. She had guessed on the first day of their meeting that Wendy was in love, and now she knew with whom. She had brought up the subject again, only the other night, now that she had met the young man, but her husband had dismissed the matter, for the second time as "a woman's desire to see love in every tree." So she determined to return to the charge during luncheon.

"Henry," she began, after the hors-d'oeuvres had been carried out.

"Yes, my good lady." This was bad, she thought. Her husband was in one of his pompous moods. He always addressed her this way, and he was doubly hard to handle.

She continued, however, now that she had begun. "I do think that you should take more interest in Wendy."

He looked at her, hurt surprise showing on his face. "But my dear, you know perfectly well that the child is second on my list of favorites—first you, then Wendy even before Philip."

"She's not a child any more, Henry."

"Poppycock! Of course she's a child. Why, only the other day I gave her a spanking."

"That was five years ago. Girls grow up between the ages of fourteen and nineteen, especially in time of war."

He thought for a moment. "Hum! I suppose they do. I say, you are not going to tell me again that the girl is in love?"

"I'm going to tell you just that."

He frowned, thinking deeply before speaking. "In that case, my dear, I shall have to look into the matter. Has Wendy told you, or are you guessing?"

"I am sure."

"Where is the young man?"

"In my hospital."

His Lordship showed interest. "A wounded officer?"

"Yes, an aviator. One of the ace. An American."

"A what?" This news flustered him and he lost the pompous mood as if by magic. "An American? But our daughter must marry an Englishman of title. We have decided that. I shall go and speak to this fellow."

"I wouldn't, Henry. Let him come and speak to you first. You know, dear, young people are quite independent today, and it is no longer the parents who decide these matters."

"Young bouncer! What's his name—if he's got one?"

"David Hutchinson."

"Oh! The chap Philip wrote about. He did say he'd been wounded. New squadron leader of The Hornets. Is that the fellow?"

"Yes, dear."

"Well, I don't care a tinker's damn! I'll not give my consent."

"But you will wait until you are asked for it, won't you dear?"

Lord Harrowsdale grumblingly said he would.

Wendy had had a very hard week, but now she was happy. It had finally ended and she was preparing her suitcase for the four-day leave at home Miss Gill had promised her. And she had just received a letter from her mother reporting that David was practically well, and would only have to stay on another week. The letter was three days enroute, so that meant he would be there the same length of time that she would. Perhaps they could return to London together. ...Anyway, they could be together for hours and hours at a time. He had said that he loved her, and she knew more surely than before that she loved him. She would marry him if he asked her, and if he didn't she would probably ask him. Father, with his funny old ideas about Englishmen being good enough for Englishwomen, et cetera, might make some trouble, but that could be handled easily.

She sang in her deep rich voice as she threw the clothes into her bag and fastened it, and the song was a love song. She was happy now although she had found the past seven days the longest and most difficult of her life. On her return from the trip on which she had carried David to the hospital, Miss Gill had said she looked tired and promised her a rest as soon as another driver returned from leave. That would be in a week. How those days and night dragged. Wendy marked them off on her calendar and it seemed like ages between the time she crossed out one day until she was able to eliminate the next. On four different occasions she had gone to London to fetch

Book Review Feature

A Joint Meeting

A review of the Mary Ellen Chase novel, "Windswept," was a feature of the program, which included music and readings presented for the Leornians and Book clubs last night at the library assembly room. The program marked the annual joint meeting of the two women's groups.

The book, reviewed by Mrs. B. G. Ludwig, relates the fortunes of the Merson family, their friends and relatives, from the early 1880's when "Windswept," their cherished home, was built, through 1939. The house on the Maine coast on a high promontory overlooking the sea is the core of the story and all that concerns the family is concerned with the house itself.

Mrs. R. R. Woods entertained with readings, "Mice at Play" and "Felle" and the Emmanuel Lutheran church women's choir, directed by Mrs. D. W. Weber, presented a group of numbers.

A St. Patrick's day tea was served at the entertainment at a table attractively decorated with green candles in crystal holders and crystal bowl of white flowers. Mrs. C. L. Hartsough, president of the Book club, and Mrs. John Holzwarth, president of the Leornians, presided.

The program was arranged by the Book club members and the tea by the Leornians.

This is an Icebox

You can sell an icebox to an Eskimo. It has been done. Iceboxes are to keep food cold in hot weather, and believe it or not, it gets hot in Alaska.

The important thing is to reach the buyer when the time is ripe.

Newspaper advertisements are the best way to do this—they show buyers the article for sale, tell them its merits, quote its price and direct buyers to where it is sold—at the time when they most want to buy.

For instance, most people want bathing suits in summer; most people want overshoes in winter.

BUT IT TAKES MORE THAN TIME-LINESS TO PLANT IDEAS IN PEOPLE'S MINDS. IDEAS HAVE TO BE REPEATED REGULARLY TO THEM.

This is a Preacher

Every Sunday thousands of preachers talk to their congregations about religion. Religion meets one of the greatest needs of mankind, but people have to be reminded of it time and again, must have religion interpreted to them week after week, in order that it can do them good in their daily lives.

So it is with any idea, big or small. It takes REPETITION to make it stick in people's minds, whether the idea is that stealing is wicked, or that Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> is good for you, or that the XYZ Company makes good bathing suits.

All people don't want to buy the same things at the same time, and advertisers must prepare them for the time when they do want to buy. A lady probably wouldn't be thinking of buying a bathing suit if she is going to a wedding today.

But the advertiser wants her to realize right now that his bathing suits are the best bathing suits, so that she will be thinking about them when she gets ready to go on a vacation.

On the other hand, there are mighty few days on which any man or woman may not need a cake of soap, a can of soup or a safety pin.

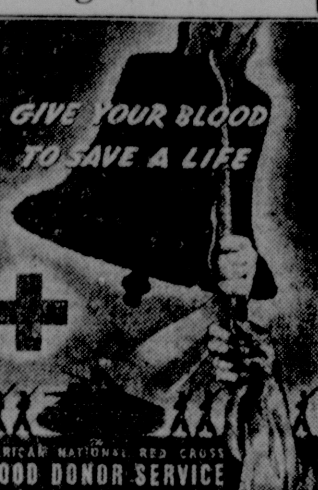

That's why you'll find the real necessities are advertised regularly in newspapers.

When business is better in this town everybody benefits. When everybody in the town knows what's going on all over the world, each man can tell better how to vote, what to buy and how to protect himself.

Read these ads each week. Tell your friends to read them. They tell you what an important part your newspaper has in helping you to know what's going on, so you can decide what you personally are going to do about it all.

The publisher of this paper wants to serve the community the best he possibly can. If you have any suggestions or questions or criticisms don't hesitate to write him a letter. It will receive personal attention.

TOWBOAT CRASHES; THREE LIVES LOST

WHEELING, W. Va., March 17.—
Workmen dragged the rain-swollen waters of the Ohio river today for the bodies of two of three men lost when the 150-foot towboat Katie Lyons, caught in a swift current, crashed into a fog-shrouded railroad bridge pier and sank within a few minutes.

The 14 others aboard, including two women, saved themselves by clinging to barges or wreckage until rivermen, putting out in skiffs, could haul them ashore. The workmen, both Pittsburghers, joined the crew last Friday, the 13th, and were on their first river voyage.

The missing men were Capt.
Andrew C. Lyons of Pittsburgh, master of the sternwheeler and head of the Lyons River Transportation company which owned it;
and Harry McGuire, 76,
one of the oldest active pilots in Pittsburgh. Two hours after the tragedy the body of second engineer, Charles Danner, 68, of Pittsburgh washed ashore at Weegee, O. Five miles downriver from the scene.

The 534-ton boat struck the Baltimore and Ohio railroad bridge connecting Bellaire, O., and Benwood,
W. Va., about five miles below Wheeling late yesterday. The wooden craft split in half.

Nine barges which the Katie Lyons was towing broke away and floated swiftly down the river. The Ohio stood at 29 feet, seven feet below flood stage, and was high enough to sweep the barges over dams.

Fireman Edward Gibbs, 52, of Pittsburgh, among those who escaped by jumping to a barge, said the towboat "must have gone down about three minutes after we hit."

U. S. WILL CLASSIFY NINE MILLION MEN

First Wartime Draft Lottery Will Get Under Way at 6 P. M.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—The classification of 9,020,000 more American men for possible military duty will start tonight with the first draft lottery of the war.
Beginning at 6 p. m., E. W. I. numbers will be drawn throughout the night to fix the order of calling up the 1,650,000 youngsters 21 and 21 years old and roughly 7,350-000 older men of 36 to 45, who registered Feb. 16. The draw is expected to last at least 12 hours.
From the numbers local draft boards will determine the order of sending out questionnaires and having registrants examined physically before classifying them.

Speed Questionnaires
Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said none of the men affected by tonight's drawing would receive questionnaires before mid-May. However, some of them may be inducted the following month, he added.

Some 17,500,000 men registered in the peace-time draft calls of 1941 and 1941. Many of the eligibles from this group, between 21 and 35 years old, already have been inducted. Hershey indicated that the military and war industrial need-of the nation would require the induction of hundreds of thousands from all age groups from 20 to 44.
The historic old goldfish bowl, used in the first World War and the two peace-time lotteries, was brought from Independence hall in Philadelphia for tonight's drawing.
From it, Secretary Stimson will take the first number.

Get Quiz On Vocations
The new registrants will receive questionnaires on vocational skills as well as on dependents. This information may form the basis for drafting men to work in war production industries, replacing those called for duty on the fighting fronts.

Local draft boards shuffled all the registration cards and assigned each one a serial number, T1, T2,
etc. (T for the third registration).
The numbers to be drawn from the goldfish bowl tonight constitute a master list of order numbers. Although each local board in getting up its individual list, following the drawing, will disregard all order numbers larger than the total number of men registered in that board.
For instance, should the first first master number and make No.

T-465 its first order number.

JURY COMMISSION MEMBERS ARE NAMED

LISBON, March 17.—Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp today

ens, Spanish-American war veteran of East Liverpool, and Donald H.
Mayhew, Legionnaire, of Salem,

Liverpool and Charles H. Wilcox of Salem.

Members of the commission must be of opposite political faiths.

hew, a Republican, will serve at a from the jury wheel for service as grand and petit jurors during the April, 1942, term of court. The drawing will take place at 1 p. m.

nominated for as many offices by the Republican party, which is unopposed.

YANKEE SOLDIERS REACH AUSTRALIA

Stimson's Announcement Indicates Considerable
War Strength

ed in moving a considerably body of troops to reinforce Australia in her hour of peril.
The announcement came at a time when congressional circles were urging that land-based and ship-based airpower be massed in the southwest Pacific area to counterbalance the heavy loss of United Nations naval strength in the costly sea battle with a Japanese fleet off Java.

Legislators frankly looked on the destruction of 13 allied vessels as nothing short of a major disaster, but Senator Ellender (D-La.), a member of the senate naval affairs committee, said the defeat might be offset at least in part by pouring air forces into the defense of Australia.

That meant, Ellender declared, that the remaining United Nations naval vessels now operating around Australia, as well as the reinforcements presumably enroute, must have the protection of a strong screen of planes from carriers as well as land based craft.

There have been indications that heavy U. S. land based bombers have been operating in the area in limited strength, but no indications that U. S. carriers have reached that theatre, and a very few signs of land-based U. S. fighters in action.

On the latter score, however, there was some encouragement not only in Stimson's announcement but also in an army communique late yesterday, which reported that nine U. S. fighters accounted for three Japanese aircraft Saturday in an aerial dogfight with a much larger enemy squadron north of Australia. Only one U. S. plane was lost.

This engagement, plus the reports that U. S. warplanes were reaching India for action on the Burma front led to the hope that quiet progress was being made in building up air strength in both important theatres.
A major weakness in the Allied fight to hold Java was the insufficiency of fighter planes.

STATE COMMISSION TO ENTERTAIN "B" TOURNEY TEAMS

Eliminated Quintets To See Whole Tourney. Have Good Time

BY FRITZ HOWELL
SPRINGFIELD, March 17.—The 16 Class B high school quintets taking part in the state scholastic basketball championship tourney here this weekend are getting a "break" at the expense of the state association.

H. R. Townsend, commissioner of athletics, informed coaches of the competing teams that each squad of 12 men would be "entertained" at association expense for the full three days of the tourney, instead of being sent home as soon as eliminated.

"This is an experiment," Townsend said, "and we want all of you and your boys to enjoy yourselves. We have no idea what the state receipts will be, so we may not be able to give each team a bonus in addition to expenses."

Will Pay Bills
"However, to make certain everyone has a good time, we'll pay hotel bills and meal expenses for every squad until the tournament is over."

The announcement was greeted with cheers by the coaches and some of the players who appeared for the drawings and an early look at the Wittenberg field house where the three day cage classic will be played.

With only one of the teams—Xenia O. S. and S. O. home—having appeared in the tournament last year, and with the event staged away from Columbus for the first time since 1923, the Class B fixture had every appearance of "newness."

The coaches, many sending their first squads into championship play, appeared worried about the caliber of opposition, but the players themselves looked at the tournament as a great lark—win or lose. The mentors spent most of the day following the drawings, interviewing coaches from the districts of their first round opponents in an attempt to learn their style or play, star performers, and other pertinent facts.

Hot-Shots Meet
The luck of the draw, should get by their first round contests, puts two of the tourney hot-shots against each other in the second round, assuring the fall of an undefeated squad.

Bremen, central district representative, and Lorain Clearview, from the northeast sector, have zoomed through 23 straight opponents, but they are due to tangle Friday afternoon if they continue winning. Bremen meets New Washington, winner of 15 of 19 games, in the opener, while Lorain Clearview stacks up against Wyoming of the southwestern area, winner of 15 of 22.

Won-loss records of the other first round foes are:
Bluffton (16-4) vs Xenia O. S. and S. O. home (15-3).
Yorkville (19-2) vs Marion St. Mary's (9-8).

Webster (23-1) vs Fairport Harbor (21-2).

Somersett (15-6) vs Tippity (17-1).

Latham Western Rural (31-3) vs Waynesburg (25-3).
Gnadenhutten (20-1) vs Ottawa Hills (18-3).
A protest, filed by Anna against Tippity's finals victory in the southwestern district was not allowed by Commissioner Townsend. The Anna team, undefeated in 22 consecutive games, claimed the Tippity field goal which won the contest was made after the final shot had sounded. The referee ruled the shot legal, and Townsend upheld him.

ALTHOUSE DEFEATS WEIRTON BY 49-45

With Bill Schaeffer and Amos Dunlap hitting the rim for 16 and 12 points, respectively, the Althouse Motors defeated the Weirton Steel Co. 49-45, in a P. T. A. benefit program on the Leetonia High school floor last night.

The locals jumped off to a fast start and led 16-6 at the end of the initial quarter of play, but the West Virginians opened up with a scoring drive in the second period which brought them a 27-23 lead at the half.

The Motors regained their lead in the following frame and managed to hold it throughout the remainder of the game. They led 32-31 at the end of the third quarter.

Marl led the Weirton five in the scoring column with 13 points.

BOWLING

The lead in the American league went back into another tie last night as Fernengels won three from Leases while the People's Lumber were winning only two from Fitzpatrick's on the Masonic alleys. Thus Fernengels are deadlocked with Peoples for the top position.

By winning three from the Electric Furnace, the American Laundry stepped into third place. Demings overcame Firestones three times to pull themselves into a tie with the electricians for fourth place. The race in this league continued to be a tight one as only four games separate the first and fifth place teams.

R. Donbar of the Laundrymen had 234 for high single game of the night, but Glenn Oesch, his teammate, topped him on total with 190,205,211-396. Bill Fieldhouse of the lumbermen had a 221 and a 582 total.

In a postponed match in the National league, City Loan won two from the National Sanitary. Hank Taubler led the way with 195, 199, 264-658.

Gondas shut out the Althouse keglers last night on the Grate alleys to allow the Arcos to slite three games from the margin sported by the Motors. The Arcos stopped Capels three straight despite Dal DeRhodes' 255 in the second game. Weikart had a 223 game for the Gondas five while Jim Armstrong came through with a 587 series.

The Golden Eagles stuck to the pace and also cut three games from the Motors' lead as they shut out the Quaker Orphans. The Lape hotel keglers took three from the Masons while Coys handed Bliss the same treatment. In the other match the Mullins Cutters plastered a three game defeat on Hawks. Miller of the Cutters had a 229 his opening game while D. Smith had a 221 for Coys.

HOME TABLE SITE OF ECONOMIC WAR

Price Control Measures
Rapidly Expanding,
Survey Shows

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 17.—Dinner tables are the site of an economic war with a rapidly expanding front, a survey of price control measures on foods disclosed today.

The front ranges from canned tomato juice through an extended menu to canned peaches, and the housewife who shies from fresh vegetables can have a complete price-control meal, with meat included.

Go Farther, If Necessary
Office of Price Administration authorities, leading the campaign against inflation at meal time, are believed ready to assume the offensive against additional salted in the near future, if it should be necessary.

Major action so far will become effective Monday, when wholesale price ceilings will be clamped upon about 9 per cent of all pork products. Such well known items as bacon, ham and pork chops will not be permitted to rise above highest levels prevailing between March 3 and 7.

This OPA action is aimed at the core of inflation, hitting the most popular meat of a meat-eating nation. Pork forms about 80 per cent of America's annual meat diet. The remaining 50 per cent is divided between beef, lamb and veal, with beef the most popular.

Previously the OPA had moved to check rising price tendencies on 11 canned fruits and 15 canned vegetables. Price ceilings, applying only to canners and wholesalers, were placed in effect March 2.

Liquid Foods Listed
Liquid as well as solid foods comprise the battle ground. Wholesale limits have been placed on coffee, tea and cocoa. Milk is controlled by federal marketing agreements in various dairy sheds. There are also price ceilings on fats and oils.

Bread has not experienced any frontal assault, but it might. The Commodity Credit corporation, which owns large stocks of wheat, can influence the price of that commodity by its selling program, and wheat is the important item in the price of bread.

There is no direct control over butter and eggs, but this situation is also "well in hand." Government agencies buy both commodities. The prices they pay largely determine what wholesalers, and eventually retailers, charge their customers.

TAX DOLLARS HIT RECORD FIGURES

Ohio Total Is Expected To Reach Million and a Half

(By Associated Press)

The last big wave of income tax returns, expected to push the total close to a million and a half, was flowing today from Ohio postoffices to internal revenue offices.

Returns postmarked up to the deadline of midnight last night were adding their weight to record-breaking totals in the number of returns and amounts paid, and TOLEDO, March 17.—Workers of the Toledo income tax office found a tuft of hair enclosed with one return sent in by mail.

"Along with my check, please find a bit of hair I tore out while figuring my income tax," the taxpayer wrote.

revenue bureau workers still were faced with truckloads of unopened mail.

The heaviest flow of forms and money was in the 22 counties of the Cleveland district. Frank F. Gentsch, internal revenue collector for the district, estimated 1,000,000 persons will have paid income taxes when the figures are all in. In the year's collection of income, corporation and excess profits taxes will reach $600,000,000, he predicted. For 1941 about 500,000 persons paid $160,000,000 in the Cleveland district.

Actual collections amounted to almost $100,000,000, based on tabulations on $50,000 of the 800,000 returns already in the district's records.

In the Cincinnati area collections reached $45,133,335 last night, compared with $17,992,058 last year. In the Columbus district collections were about $11,000,000, and Collector Harry F. Bussey estimated the year's revenue would reach about $33,000,000, as compared with $26,000,000 a year ago.

Corporation tax returns were expected to reach revenue offices in heavier volume within the next few days, officials declaring many companies do not mail their returns until the final day.

The largest reported payment in the state was turned into the Cleveland office by an unidentified corporation—an $11,000,000 quarterly installment on a $44,000,000 tax.

The town of Kodiak, Alaska, doubled its population between 1930 and 1940.

The storms struck separately in Mississippi shortly after 4 p. m. (C.W.T.), and large groups of school children, enroute home, narrowly escaped. At O'Fulkeola, near Water Valley, a schoolhouse and teacher's home were demolished a few minutes after school closed. Supt. Edwin Vernon Ferrell, 36, and a five-month-old twin daughter were killed, while his wife and other twin escaped.

Two storms struck scattered areas in east-central Illinois. The first ripped through three eastern counties, and the second blasted a trail about 100 miles to the north and west. The first storm hit the center of Alvin, a town of 239, leaving at least eight dead, and the second passed through Lacon, 1,600 population, where six were known dead and about 100 injured in that district.
